THE WASHING DAY
The little cottage on the shore
Has clothes-lines in and out;
The waves come almost to the door,
And all the linen pinned about
Catches the freshness of the gales;
And, leaning to the waterside,
Gathers the wind, like sunny sails
Ready to journey with the tide.

There, where the sparkling waters spread
Their foaming ripples at the feet,
The linen flutters overhead
Flapping, fluttering, clean and sweet.
Below the hillside's grassy slopes
It tugs against the tautened ropes
Full of its breezy holiday.

The 1933 Dixon College reunion is to be held here next month, promises to be the largest in point of attendance in recent years. Another feature of the 1933 gathering, will be the presentation of a long list of prizes. The program committee will hold a meeting Wednesday, July 12, at which time the date and the place for the holding of the reunion will be decided upon. In the prize features,

It is expected that the reunion will be held at Assembly Park, as in former years the latter part of next month, but a much larger attendance is anticipated than in recent years.

The Live Wire Class of the Grace Evangelical church held their regular monthly meeting and social time at the church Monday evening.

The meeting was preceded by a picnic supper at 6:30.

The contest between the Fords and the Packards closed with the Packards winning by a good majority of points. Both sides showed lots of enthusiasm in the contest and much credit is due them.

Miss Mildred Hartman was presented with a beautiful Live Wire class pin—having won the most number of points during the contest.

Sunday the members of the class will motor to Freeport, after Sunday school, where they will hold their picnic. The picnic and trip is given as a treat for the winning side, the Packards.

Under the auspices of St. Peter's historical Episcopal church of Grand Detour, and St. Agnes Guild of Dixon, and in connection with the annual pilgrimage to St. Peter's on Sunday, an art exhibit is to be held in Illinois hall for three days, starting Friday and ending Sunday.

Ferguson of Dixon, a pupil of Mr. Nolf and a member of St. Agnes Guild. This makes in all six contributors to the exhibit which no doubt will be most interesting.

The list of patronesses published in last evening's Telegraph was for Friday only. Following is the list for Saturday: Mesdames Murray, Burke, Johnson, Sterling, King, Leake, Nichols, Freeman, Plam, Geo. Shaw, Miss Becker, Miss Ingraham. Those who will pour Saturday are Mrs. Frank Rosbrook, Mrs. H. A. White and Mrs. E. Reynolds.

W.C.T.U. Determined To Fight Repeal

Milwaukee, Wis., July 6.—(AP)—The National Woman's Christian Temperance Union faced a new year today, determined to fight to the last to block repeal of the 18th Amendment and prepared even to go to the length of supporting a new political party to advance the dry cause.

Accepting the presidency, Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith of Des Moines, Ia., told the union's 59th annual convention last night the organization has no new ideals, that the world has yet to catch up with the principles laid down by Miss Frances E. Willard, its organizing genius and second president, in 1876.

She said the union intends a nationwide appeal for the reorganization of the present major political parties or else start a new one.

Mrs. Smith cited the statement of Abraham Lincoln that no party should last more than 25 years, adding that both present parties have deserted standards which they set up for themselves. The law should be upheld, she said, or parties will fall of their own weight.

The sisters will meet at the cemetery next Monday evening at 7 o'clock to hold memorial services for all deceased members of the order.

The meeting closed in regular form to meet again on Monday evening, July 17.

Avoid Sunburn By Using Oil, Powder

Let the woman who never has been sunburned laugh at those who have. Nobody who has experienced the pain of blistering will smile.

Why people go out and get actually blistered is difficult to understand. None of them would willingly put their hands on a hot stove. Yet they come home smarting and it often is days before they feel right.

If you are actually sun-burned don't take it lightly. There are ointments for burns that are tremendously soothing. Perhaps your own pharmacy puts up its own lotion that looks like calamine which you paint over your burned arms and legs to relieve them immensely. Certainly you should do something right away about it.

The very best way to treat sunburn is to avoid it. That can be done nicely, if you take a little trouble. Use one of the oils, compounded to protect the skin from burning, before you start. Dust powder over it before you leave.

The powder is additional precaution. You can get a sun tan nicely through the oil and powder. But you won't burn so easily. Wear a big hat and don't stay too long in the glaring sun.

Some women simply can't get a sun tan. After the fairest, most delicate skin merely burns, and peels, neither state adding to its beauty. I might add, those having such delicate skins or skins affected that way should learn by experience that it is much better to be comfortable than stylish, and stay out of excessive sun.

Picnic Honors Mr. Mrs. Geo. Schuler

Mr. and Mrs. Dement Schuler delightfully entertained with a picnic supper at the Schuler cottage last evening for Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Schuler of Pasadena, Cal.

Other out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Keith Benson, Mr. and Mrs. C. Jensen, Sterling; Mr. and Mrs. H. Hoover of Minneapolis, Mrs. Edgar Kay of Washington, D. C.

There were about thirty guests who greatly enjoyed the evening at the cottage and attractive surrounding grounds, which were illuminated with Chinese lanterns. Various games and stunts occupied the attention of all and there was music furnished by banjo, mandolin, guitar and accordion, with several enjoyable vocal numbers. The evening proved one of much pleasure to all present.

Schmeling-Ondra Wedding Is Today

Berlin, July 6.—(AP)—Max Schmeling, former heavyweight champion of the world, and Miss Anny Ondra, screen and musical comedy actress, were married in a civil ceremony at the Charlottenburg city hall today.

Their honeymoon will be at Helligendamm. A religious celebration of the marriage will be conducted later at Saarow, where Schmeling resides.

Max, at the wheel of his own car, was cheered by a large crowd at the city hall. He wore a blue sack suit. His bride was clad in a rose colored dress.

The bridegroom's trainer, Max Machon, was the best man.

Schmeling returned to Germany June 14, after losing a fight to Max Baer.

Soft straws, linen and organdy are the favorite fabrics of the wide brimmed hats, most of which are trimmed only with a narrow band ending in a small flat bow.

NO APOLOGY IS NEEDED FOR OUR COURSE AT LONDON.

Cabled dispatches from Europe indicate that the people overseas are beginning once more to shake their heads sadly over Uncle Sam's misguided and deluded refusal to save the world from disaster.

For a long time it was Uncle Sam's refusal to cancel the war debts that convicted him of selfishness, blindness and obstinacy.

Then it was his action in raising his tariff rates; more recently, it was his decision to go off the gold standard.

Now, it seems, he is wrecking civilization by his stand at the London conference. He won't stabilize his currency, he won't agree to a sudden horizontal tariff slash, he won't do this, that and the other thing; and as a result he is once more the target for the pitying scorn of the super-civilized altruists across the Atlantic.

The only way in which all of this criticism can do any harm is that some Americans may begin to take it seriously.

What we must realize is that we need not apologize in the least for our country's course at London. Our government is looking out first and foremost for the interests of its own citizens, and it is doing it in what seems to be a hard-boiled and effective manner. In that, there is certainly nothing to be ashamed of.

We are remaining off the gold standard until we can get back on in our own way and at our own terms? Surely—and so is England, whence a good part of this sorrowful head-shaking originates.

We are guilty of the crime of debasing the value of our currency? Well, France did precisely the same thing about a decade ago, cutting the value of the franc to one-fourth of its old worth. Isn't it odd that the French should be so indignant at us now?

We are going slowly in the matter of reducing our tariffs? Sure—just as England has abandoned free trade for protection, and has arranged preferential understandings with other nations; just as France is doing, just as practically every other nation on the globe is doing.

The truth seems to be that our delegates have simply adopted a hard-boiled and realistic attitude at London. They don't care to have Uncle Sam holding the bag when the conference ends.

If this arouses Europe's indignation—well, it's just too bad.

AFTER REPEAL—WHAT?

One of the oddest things about the current campaign to repeal the 18th amendment is that all of us seem to be too busy, or something, to give the slightest thought to the question of what program we shall adopt after the amendment has been discarded.

Are we to go back to the old high-license regime that was common before 1920? Are we to adopt the Ontario system, or a modification thereof? Is the Quebec system one which we could profitably copy? Will it be necessary for us to find an entirely new method of handling the liquor traffic?

All of these questions become more important each week. So far we have hardly bothered to give them a thought. It would be very foolish for us to rush through with the task of repealing the dry law without devoting any time to a consideration of what sort of liquor control we are going to have afterward.

DR. MORGAN'S WISE COURSE.

Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, chairman of the government organization which is going to develop the Muscle Shoals project, has done a wise and high-minded thing in filing, before he began his new job, a complete statement of the property, real and personal, owned by himself and members of his family. When he leaves office he intends to file a similar statement.

In that way Dr. Morgan proposes to make it crystal clear that he does not profit personally, directly or indirectly, by his work for the government.

Here is a standard that all men in public life might well adopt. What many of them fail to understand is that a high government official must avoid the appearance of evil. It is not enough for him to refrain from taking outright bribes. He must not even permit people to suppose that his government service has enriched him in an indirect manner. Dr. Morgan seems to have a healthy and intelligent recognition of this fact.

Nationalism in the sphere of politics may be essential to human freedom. Self-sufficient nationalism in economics is the death knell of advancing prosperity.—Prime Minister MacDonald.

What's wrong with the fight business? There is too much "Yoo, hoo, Sweetie!" stuff in it. Do you think people come to fights to see a couple of ballroom dancers? They want to see action.—Max Baer, pugilist.

Countries really experienced in democracy—the United States, Switzerland, England, the British dominions and the Scandinavian countries—have not been and are not now threatened with dictatorships.—General John J. Pershing.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The lasso man had lots of ropes and Scouty said, "I am in hopes that you will entertain us with some stunts that are brand new."

"I'm still provoked about that trick, but if you prove that you are sick, I guess I will forgive you. Now, let's see what you can do."

"You see, I'm a real Boy Scout. I know what lassoing's about. I've learned the way to twirl a loop through which a lad can jump."

"When you have staged your little show, I'll gladly show you what I know. It will not take me long to prove that I am not a chump."

The man replied, "Hurray for you! But I can show you something new!" And then he tossed one rope in air and made it jump and fall.

"That's clever," Duncy shouted. "Gee, be careful you don't lasso me!" Of course it's good," the man replied. "But wait, that isn't all!"

The rope then whizzed along the ground. "Toward Windy's little feet," was bound. As Windy jumped, to dodge it, he was caught right by the knees.

The rope was jerked a little bit and Windy, not prepared for it, made everybody laugh when he was pulled right down, with ease.

Then Scouty shouted, "Say, that's fine. I've seen your tricks. Now you watch mine!" The lasso man gave him the rope and said, "Go right ahead!"

"Perhaps, lad, you can teach me stunts. I learn them when I've seen them once. Let's see you lasso me, or make your whirling loop instead."

"The whirling loop is what I'll do and I will make a big one, too," cried Scouty. Then to Duncy, he said, "Help me with my trick."

"When in the loop you think you'll fit, I want you to jump right through it." Soon Duncy did, and Mister Lasso Man cried, "That was slick!"

(Duncy tries his luck with rope tricks in the next story.)

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

CALEB, THE COURAGEOUS

By WM. E. GIBBY, D. D.

With Joshua is inevitably associated Caleb, called the courageous. He shared Joshua's faith in the ability of the people of Israel to conquer and possess the Promised Land when their 10 fellow spies admitted the glories of the country but assured their people that there was no hope of conquering it.

In our present lesson we have Caleb as an old man recalling to Joshua, in the presence of the people, their common service in days gone by and the promise that Moses had given to him that the land which he had trodden would be an inheritance to him and to his children because of his faithfulness and courage. The spirit of the old man had by no means waned, and he assured Joshua and the people that he was as strong as in the day when Moses had sent him to spy out the land.

Possibly it was something of an old man's boast, or a matter of illusion, but we still admire his spirit and his strength. As we grow older we like to feel that the years have not ravaged us, that we have as much forcefulness and vigor of character as we had in the days of our youth; but it is not always true that a man is as young as he feels. Age leaves its mark upon us as it probably had left its mark upon Caleb.

In asking for his heritage, and in settling down in the hill country, Caleb was not seeking mere reward and an easy way. It was still his hope that he could drive out the enemy.

Perhaps that was why he chose the hill country. The hill country has always offered its challenge. If it gives invigorating atmosphere, it presents hardships and problems that are not associated with the more fertile plain, but the hill country usually develops strong characters, and Caleb was looking to the future.

The lessons of the life of Caleb must be carried over to a different age and a different sphere. Most of us who read and study the lesson will not be engaged in any task of military conquest, nor even in a task of tilling or defending farms in a hilly country; yet a promised land opens up before us every day, and every experience presents opportunities that can turn to blessings, with energy and heroic endeavor.

To have the spirit of Caleb, to feel in the presence of gigantic difficulties our own strength and the greatness of the spiritual resources upon which we can draw, to attack our difficulties and our problems without fear and without hesitation, that is the way of achievement and satisfaction today as it was in the day when

O YOUTH, LISTEN!

By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton

"What would you say if you could speak to a million people for five minutes?" a man asked me the other day.

Something like this:—O Youth, read the meaning of life as a quest and a conquest; live it nobly, erect and unafraid, obeying the law written in your own heart by the Lord of all good life. Make your working creed out of the truth learned by living, and be as tolerant of others as you are severe with yourself.

For the rest, in this valley of illusion some things are real, whatever else may be futile, and to follow them is to find the path rising under our feet. Here they are, shining like a six pointed star.

First, the practice of righteousness, since we needs must love and serve the highest when we see it clearly, and no rotter can be happy or free of soul.

Second, the search for truth, not mere fact, but the meaning and worth of things, because truth alone can satisfy the mind, and set us free from fear.

Third, the creation of beauty, not alone in the life of art, but still more in the art of life, because beauty is the form of truth when we find it, and the native robe of goodness when we do it.

Fourth, the adventure of love, in which we find the creative secret of life and its highest joy—love self-forgetting and self-giving, blooming in the glory of compassion and magnanimity.

Fifth, the worship of God, whose character is the beauty of holiness and the holiness of beauty—God the beginning of all good, and the end of all desire.

Sixth, the service of man, seeking to lift ourselves and our fellows out of selfishness and solitariness into the joy of service and the freedom of fellowship, where we may learn together what none may know alone.

To sum up, lower the speed, lighten the luggage, take sides, live positively, have a technique, seek discipline, aim at a definite goal, and try for the highest.

PLEURISY

The term "pleurisy" indicates an inflammation of the pleura.

The function of the pleura, the name given the coverings of the lungs and of the inner chest wall, is to secrete a lubricating fluid which facilitates the free movement of the lungs, as they expand and contract during the act of breathing.

Under normal conditions the pleura is smooth and slippery. When the pleura has become inflamed it loses its smoothness and as we listen to the affected area, we sometimes hear what is termed a pleural rub. This is a friction sound due to the roughening of the pleural membranes.

Pleurisy or the inflammation of the pleura may be due to a multitude of causes. Most frequently pleurisy is associated with diseases of the chest, particularly of the infectious variety. At times pleurisy may develop as a complication of infections elsewhere in the body.

In dry pleurisy the pleura is inflamed, but the condition does not give rise to any appreciable amount of pleural secretion. In wet pleurisy there accumulates a relatively large amount of pleural fluid or effusion, as it is sometimes called, within the chest in the space between the chest wall and the lung.

All cases of pleurisy deserve and require careful medical attention. This is particularly true in the instance of wet pleurisy, for it has been demonstrated that a substantial number of cases of wet pleurisy are either the forerunners of, or are associated with, tuberculosis of the lung.

Recently a series of studies were made in Denmark and in Sweden on the medical "careers" of pleurisy cases. In 194 cases of pleurisy, 179 of which were wet, 66 per cent were found to be tuberculous.

Therefore the individual who has had pleurisy, either wet or dry, should subject himself to a careful clinical examination, and should have an X-ray of the lungs.

In "Marriage in Gotham," Ishbel

Ross records in fictional form certain of the idiosyncies and meannesses of our privileged leisure class as she has observed them during her career as newspaper reporter—a career in which she has covered some of the nation's most sensational divorce cases.

She presents a cultured and wealthy New York family—Hector Tulloch, architect, his wife, Henrietta, and their two children, a son and a daughter.

Hector is a kind of genius, so wrapped up in his job that it fails to occur to him that he is neglecting his wife. Henrietta, in turn, is bored, idle and hungry for affection. So when the son brings home a college chum for a visit, it is more or less natural that Henrietta should fall smack in love with the young man.

That might not have been so bad if she hadn't made the mistake of

VACATIONS and HEALTH

By Dr. ERNEST H. LINES
Eminent Authority and Chief Medical Director
New York Life Insurance Company

SUNSTROKE AND HEAT PROSTRATION

EVERY summer has at least a few days of excessive heat. Whether you are on your vacation or at work in the city, certain precautions should be taken to avoid sunstroke and heat prostration. It is also well to know what first aid measures should be administered to those who are afflicted.

Sunstroke is a condition of the body resulting from exposure to intense heat and the body becoming overheated. It may prove very serious.

Among those most susceptible to sunstroke and heat prostration are people who over-indulge in eating and drinking, who are not accustomed to excessively hot weather, who suffer from debility brought on by fatigue from the heated atmosphere, and who sleep in badly ventilated rooms.

To prevent sunstroke and heat prostration it is advisable to avoid all alcoholic liquor and everything else that might impair strength. Loose, light garments should be worn and the head should be protected from the heat of the sun, although the head covering should be such that it allows a current of air to circulate over the head. Don't play tennis or golf, or expose yourself long in the sun, during the heat of the day. Keep in the shade.

A person suffering from sunstroke should be carried to a cool, shady spot immediately. If possible, the entire body should be immersed in cold water in a bath tub. Ice may be added to the water. Although a tepid bath is most cooling and best for people in good health, in cases of sunstroke it is necessary to bring down the temperature of the body with ice water.

Respiration sometimes ceases in cases of sunstroke. In that case, a dash of cold water over the chest and face may help to restore it. Artificial respiration according to the prone method may be practised after the body has cooled.

This is the last of a series of 12 articles on Vacations and Health.

HAGEN RETAINS ONE POINT LEAD AT ST. ANDREWS

Ed Dudley Is Only One Point Behind Walter With 141

St. Andrews, Scotland, July 6.—(AP)—Walter Hagen, the American veteran and four-times holder of the title, kept a one-stroke lead in the British open golf championship today by shooting a 72, one under par, for his second round and a total of 140 for 36 holes. A rival American, Ed Dudley of Concordville, Pa., was on his heels with 70-71-141.

Horton Smith, Chicago pro, set the early pace by duplicating his first round 73, even par, for a total of 146 for 36 holes. Smith finished his round just before Hagen, the first day's leader, and Gene Sarazen, the defending champion, renewed the battle. Hagen's dazzling 68 yesterday put him out in front with a two-stroke margin. Sarazen had a 72 for his opening round.

Burke Eliminated
Bill Burke of Greenwich, Conn., the 1931 American open champion, put himself out of the running with an 82 for his second round, for a total of 159.

Olin Dutra, the American P. G. A. titleholder, and Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y., the youngest of the American professional contingent, also failed to improve their positions. Dutra again took a 76 for a total of 152 while Runyan carded a 77 this morning for an aggregate of 153.

Meanwhile Joe Egar of Waco, Texas, started a comeback with a good 72, one under par, for a two-day total of 149 that brightened the Texan's chances of moving into the money. Leo Diegel staged a comeback and moved up the list with 145. Joe Kirkwood had a similar total with 72-73-145 for the first half of the tournament route.

PHILADELPHIA'S TEAMS DISCOVER PITCHING TALENT

Sandlot Recruits Take Up Their Share Of Box Burdens

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Philadelphia major league clubs, both of which have sadly in need of more pitching strength, have discovered some of it in unexpected places.

A couple of weeks ago the Phillies, more or less in desperation, tossed Johnny Jackson, fresh from the University of Pennsylvania in as a starting pitcher. He won the game, and has been taking his regular turn since then. Now the Athletics have made a similar successful experiment with Dick Oliver, a young right hander from the local sandlots.

Personal Triumph

Oliver, who has had a few tryouts in relief work, drew his first starting assignment yesterday and turned it into a personal triumph by beating the Boston Red Sox 4 to 2. He gave only seven hits and fanned eight to shatter Boston's six game winning streak.

The victory kept the A's a game and a half in front of the Chicago White Sox, who moved into fourth place with a 10-6 victory over the Cleveland Indians. With weak pitching on both sides, the Sox won by putting together six blows for seven runs in the sixth inning.

Tommy Bridges was invincible except in one inning and the Detroit Tigers walloped the St. Louis Browns 9-4 in the third American League game. He granted only six hits and whiffed nine while his mates pooled out 16 safeties. The Yankees-Washington contest was called off to allow the stars of both teams time to go to Chicago for today's all-star game.

Pirates Beat Cards

The Pittsburgh Pirates accomplished the day's best task in the National League by defeating the St. Louis Cardinals in a 26 hit swatfest, 7 to 6. The victory left the Pirates only a game out of second place as a three run burst in the seventh decided the game and finished the Cards' disastrous tour with a record of 12 defeats and only six victories since they struck the eastern portion of the circuit June 19.

Four runs in the first inning enabled the Chicago Cubs to turn back the Cincinnati Reds 5-3 and gave Bud Tinning his fifth straight mound victory although the Reds had a 10-7 edge in the hitting. All four eastern clubs in the National League were idle.

Boston Fans Will See A Real Scrap

Boston, July 6—(AP)—Mickey Walker, one of boxing's great, comes to Boston tonight to meet the more youthful Lou Brouillard in what promises to be the best 10-round bout this town has seen in a long time.

No title is involved, but both are former champions. Walker, who hails from Elizabeth, N. J., once held both the welterweight and middleweight titles and Brouillard, a Worcester boy, was once welterweight champion.

Walker is extremely popular with Boston fight fans although he has not appeared here in several years. Brouillard is also an old favorite at the Boston Garden.

The New Jersey boy was a slight favorite over Brouillard because of his wide experience and heavier punching ability. There are many, however, who place great faith in Brouillard's youth and strength.

Part of the agreement is that each shall weigh 169 pounds and the boys will weigh in this afternoon.

STATE SEEKING TO BUY 600,000 BBLs. OF CEMENT

Marquette Co. Is Unable To Supply Anymore, Kingly States

Springfield, Ill., July 6—(AP)—Six hundred thousand barrels of cement must be bought before the state can start work on road projects in 14 counties.

None of the 2,000,000 barrels purchased from the Marquette Cement Company when Governor Horner ended the price controversy has or will go into any of these counties.

The Marquette Company is unable to supply these counties. Robert Kingery, Acting Director of the Department of Public Works and Buildings, said today, and the state is seeking to buy the required 600,000 barrels elsewhere.

The Marquette Company broke away from other concerns after months of negotiations between the Governor and 16 cement companies and sold 2,000,000 barrels to the state at $1.44. The price bid by the 16 companies was $1.62.

The purchase was made under the Sinnett law which permits the state to buy on the open market at a price not to exceed 90 per cent of the rejected bids.

Seek To Buy Rest

The state is now seeking to buy the 600,000 barrels. It needs to start work in these 14 counties under the same law.

The counties in which the cement is required are: Vermilion, on routes 10 and 119; Clark, 11; Brown, 104; Pike 104 and 100; Jefferson, 148; Fayette, 135; Macoupin, 110, 108 and 111; Madison, 150, 11, 157, 3, 4 and 160; Bond, 11; St. Clair, 161, 159 and 15; Washington, 153 and 177; Randolph, 153; Montgomery, 16; Monroe, 156.

Freight rates between the company's plants at Oglesby, Ill., and Cape Girardeau, Mo., and the 14 counties concerned made it unprofitable, Kingery said, for the Marquette Company to ship cement into those counties where work has not been started.

These counties, it develops, were left out of the contract negotiated between the state and the cement firm.

The administration is now casting about in an effort to locate another company to supply the requirements of the 14 counties. Kingery said two courses were open—either purchase the 600,000 barrels under the Sinnett law, if a firm can be found which is willing to sell; or call for contracts for the remainder in the hope that the "collusion" of which Gov. Horner complained has been broken.

Washington Fans Talk Of Pennant

Washington, July 6—(AP)—Talking about pennants now may be just a little premature, but there are several hundred Washington baseball fans who think otherwise.

For after their Nationals returned to the Capital, two and a half games ahead of the Yankees, these several hundred got in line for world series tickets.

Officials at Griffith Stadium, where the present American League leaders hold forth, announced that more than 300 applications for reserved seats had been received.

And the pepped up fans had to take a day off because their team was not playing today.

Chicago Girl Sues Head Of Gulf Park, Mississippi School

CHICAGO—A local girl, Miss Alice B. Shepard, 18, daughter of C. H. Shepard, a consulting engineer, filed the praprice of a $50,000 suit against Richard G. GOVERNMENT TO STUDY RUSSIAN PROBLEMS ANEW

Pres. Roosevelt Is Sending Representative To Soviet Republic

Washington, July 6—(AP)—The United States is going to make an official study of the problems involved in recognition of Soviet Russia.

Today, Lawrence Steinhardt, the Minister to Sweden, starts to Europe for that study. The announcement of his specific mission was made at the White House. Many held it added force to arguments that America's more friendly relations might bring official recognition of the land of Communism.

Just a few days ago, the Reconstruction Corporation, vast federal agency, with the President's approval announced loans of around $4,000,000 to finance the sale of cotton to Russia. Some months past Roosevelt addressed to Russia, along with other nations, a plea for peace. It was the first time in many months that there had been such an admission of Russia's existence.

When Steinhardt begins his survey, he will find Russian debts and propaganda activities heading rear-sons for non-recognition in the past.

Big Debt Repudiated

After the last czar was overthrown, the United States extended an $187,000,000 credit to the provisional government which took over. That was repudiated along with around $400,000,000 of Czarist obligations held by American citizens. The provisional government floated an additional $86,000,000 in bonds which also were defaulted.

Russia, now, may offer to do something about these debts. If so, the Soviet may be granted a place on the list being drawn by the State Department of other nations which have asked opportunities to discuss their debts.

Only those nations which have recognized their obligations by a partial payment are on that list.

Some officials here say that a payment by Russia would qualify her.

Charity Benefits

From Swift Estate

CHICAGO—Charity benefited to the extent of $1,500,000 in the $5,000,000 estate left by the late Edward F. Swift, vice-chairman of the board of Swift & Company, who fell to his death from a window in his home more than a year ago. Of the remainder, the will, for which an inventory was filed in Probate Court, one-half was left to the widow and the balance to his three children in the form of a trust fund.

Auto deaths in the U. S. during the first four months of 1933 totaled about 7500.

Tragedy Mars the First Halt of Italian Sky Cavalcade

The first hop of Italy's air armada to Chicago was marred by tragedy when the I Dini one of the 26 biplanes in the flight crashed at Amsterdam, killing one and injuring three members of the crew. In this picture, which was rushed to London by air and transmitted by radio to New York, the injured are shown being pulled from the upturned fuselage.

Official Act Of Louis XIV Of France Over 200 Years Ago Nullified By Assembly

Springfield, Ill., July 6—(AP)—One of the official acts of King Louis XIV of France, who died in 1715, may be nullified by a bill passed by the Illinois General Assembly.

The measure, which has not yet been approved by Governor Horner, would permit the sale of the commons at Prairie du Rocher in Randolph county.

The Prairie du Rocher commons, which consists of 6,000 acres of land overlooking the Mississippi river, were given to the village in perpetuity by the French king.

Since the commons at two other early French settlements in Illinois—Cahokia and Kaskaskia—were split up and sold several years ago, the one at Prairie du Rocher is thought to be the last in the state which dates back to the time of the French occupation.

Leased For 100 Years
The Prairie du Rocher commons have been under lease to farmers for many years. The leases now in effect were made in 1853 and do not expire until 1952. Some of the land was leased for as low as $1.00 an acre for the 99 year period.

Many of the leases have been passed down by the original makers to succeeding generations of the same families. A number of those residing on the commons consider their leasehold as their ancestral homes. Other leases have been sold. In some instances such sales of leases were made at figures many times the original amount.

Political Issue
Although the leases still have 20 years to run, the subject of what to do with the commons when they expire has become a political issue in the community. Persons now holding the leases have, in many cases, made extensive improvements on their farms.

To settle the issue State Representative A. A. Brands, Prairie du Rocher Democrat, introduced a bill permitting sale of the commons subject to the leases.

If the bill is approved by Governor Horner the proceeds from such sales would like the money received from leases during the past 79 years, be used for the Prairie du Rocher schools.

May Be Holy Grail.
"With the fall of Jerusalem, Antioch became the main center of Christianity in the East. And so the inner bowl of the Chalice may have been not improbably brought thither from Jerusalem, where it may have been the very vessel used in apostolic times by the infant Church. Indeed, a presumption that it was none other than the cup of the Last Supper is raised."

Dr. Cook's words open up a field of speculation regarding the Chalice which embraces the whole legend of early knighthood. If this vessel chances to be the cup of the Last Supper, then that search which for years claimed the devotion of Europe's noblest blood, was never ended. Indeed, not to a Knight of the Grail, but to a humble Arab workman, would thus be given the honor of its recovery.

Pickfair, Home of Doug and Mary, Will Be Sold

Pickfair, the $400,000 home of Mary Pickford and Doug Fairbanks in Beverly Hills, is to be sold, now that the famous film couple contemplate separation and possibly divorce. Here's an airview of the palatial home. A recent wire from Fairbanks, now in London, informing his wife that she would have to bear all the expenses of maintaining the mansion, is said to have been the incident that caused Mary finally to abandon the pretense of the past few years that all was well between them. Their difficulties started about three years ago; for ten years they were not separated for a single night.

ITALIAN FLIERS TO REST SEVERAL DAYS IN ICELAND

Reykjavik, Iceland, July 6—(AP)—After winning another flight with fog, 96 Chicago-bound Italian fliers rested today in anticipation of a second ocean hop to Labrador.

The 24 seaplanes arrived in perfect order late yesterday from Londonderry, Northern Ireland, 930 miles from here. They conquered wind and fog—so bad at times that they had to fly a few feet above the water.

Their leader, Air Minister Italo Balbo, said he expected to stay several days before continuing the seven-day cruise with a flight to Cartwright, Labrador, 1500 miles distant.

On yesterday's flight the squadron averaged better than 130 miles an hour, arriving at 5 P. M. (22 Noon CST) after leaving Londonderry six hours 30 minutes before.

Thousands crowded the hills around the landing port of Vatnagarður, near here, to greet the Italians. General Balbo went ashore to receive an official welcome.

Scheduled stops after Cartwright are at Shediac and Montreal.

BARGAIN BRIDE

by KATHARINE HAVILAND-TAYLOR

BEGIN HERE TODAY
BARRETT COLVIN, back in New York after years abroad, falls in love with ELLINOR STAFFORD.

ELLINOR is 35 and she is 20. Elinor returns his affection but her jealous, scheming mother, LIDA STAFFORD, breaks up the romance by convincing Barrett that Elinor was only flirting with him.

Rich Miss Ella Sexton, Elinor's aunt, dies, and to the despair of the relatives, leaves her entire fortune to Barrett. Lida Stafford has been flirting with VANCE CAUTEL. When Vance learns she will not divorce her husband, BENTWELL STAFFORD, he shoots Bentwell. It is uncertain whether the wounded man will live or die.

Barrett does not want Miss Ella's money but can not give it back to the rightful inheritors because of their pride. Suddenly a plan comes to him. He tells Elinor that if she will marry him and live as a guest in his home for a year he will give her the entire sum to divide between her relatives. Knowing the money may save her father's life, Elinor agrees.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXII
BARRETT said decisively, "Show Mr. Streeter to the hall, please, Benson, and tell him that I—Miss Stafford's fiancé—will see him there."

The butler, after one frank look of surprise, stiffly piloted the bill collector toward the front of the apartment.

Elinor had risen. Barrett rose also and stood looking down at her. "There is no other way out of all this for you or me either," he reminded her gently.

"I don't—suppose there is," she agreed.

"I hope you don't mind my making the decision for you?" he added. "No," she answered. "I don't."

There was a moment's silence. Barrett broke it with, "Elinor—I shall have to call you that, you know—" He paused.

"Yes."

"I don't want anyone to know of this arrangement of ours. Least of all, your mother—"

"Neither do I!" she agreed with a gasp.

It was settled, he saw. He had done it. "Because of all that has happened," he went on, "I think we should be married as soon as possible. Would tomorrow be all right?"

"Oh—"

"At what time tomorrow, Elinor?"

She moistened her lips. "I don't care," she whispered. "Whenever you like—whenever you think best."

"Then noon if that suits you."

"It will suit me as well as any time," she answered. She was deeply shaken, he saw, and afraid.

HE stepped closer to her. "Look up at me," he ordered. She obeyed. "Do you trust me?" he went on.

"I—think so!" she responded weakly.

"You must, you know," he stated inflexibly. "There must be no 'think' about it, and—you can! I want you to understand that."

She nodded; he saw she could not trust herself to speak.

"I'll see that man now," he said.

As soon as he had reached home he said sharply, "Higgins, get Mrs. Radnor on the telephone for me, please."

Marcia, he knew, could direct him to someone who would make Elinor's room as attractive as it should be. He was determined that everything should be made pleasant for the girl during the year in which together they must make the world believe their lie.

Marcia was amazed. She repeated again and again that she was "so happy" for Barrett. He heard her fluttering, excited comment and, after he had put down the telephone again, paused thoughtfully. All this was not going to be entirely easy.

Then, hurrying to the hall, he picked up his hat and set out once more. He had to see Arthur Palmer who was both a personal friend and the clergyman of the church the Colvins had attended for years.

TWENTY minutes later Palmer, a pleasantly athletic type

World Conference Will Be Continued "Wild Bill" Hallahan As Starting Pitcher, Gave Americans Their Margin

MONETARY AND
TARIFF ISSUES
TO BE BARREDVictory For Hull Over the European Nations
Of Gold Bloc

London, July 6—(AP)—The world economic conference will continue, but monetary and tariff matters will be excluded, the steering committee of the parley decided this evening.

The decision came after a furious battle and was a victory for Cordell Hull, American Secretary of State, who, on instruction from President Roosevelt, had stoutly insisted that the conference must continue its attempt to solve pressing world problems.

France and other members of the European gold bloc advocated formal conclusion for the major activities of the conference.

To Draft Program

The morning session of the steering committee lasted three hours and a half but was unable to arrive at a decision. The evening session however was comparatively brief, ending in triumph for the American position.

In the meantime a drafting committee, of which Hull was a member, had been at work on a proposed program of future activities for the parley.

The conference therefore will continue in session for the discussion of economic questions, except tariffs.

The agenda for the conference thus was substantially modified from its original form when the conference met June 12.

'CHUTE JUMPER
MAY HAVE HAD
HEART ATTACKEither Suffered Fatal
Attack Or Was Novice
At Stunt

Chicago, July 6—(AP)—Officials investigating the fatal jump of a man from an airplane over a Century of Progress Exposition grounds said today they believed he either was a victim of a heart attack or a novice at parachute jumping and that he never attempted to open the two chutes he carried.

Registered with officials of the fair as Joe Wilson, his identity was established as Joseph Adrey, son of a Jersey City, N. J. family.

The accident occurred Tuesday night in full view of thousands of persons watching a fireworks display at the fair grounds. The man's body fell into Lake Michigan and was not recovered until yesterday.

An inquest was set for today to determine, if possible, if he had suffered a heart attack.

Kenneth E. Johnson, a United States Department of Commerce inspector, examined the parachutes and said they seemed to be in good working order.

The older Adrey at Jersey City was reported as saying that his son had never evinced any interest in aviation until a few days ago when he wrote home telling of his intention to make a parachute jump.

Alleged Double
Murderer Lived
Here Short Time

Chief of Police J. D. Van Bibber this morning received a letter from Sheriff Gilmore O. Bush of Orange County, N. Y., stating that Joseph Quinn, alias Dunbar, wanted for a double murder at Goshen, N. Y., had been captured and returned.

Quinn resided in Dixon for a very short time about two years ago during which time he was united in marriage to Mrs. William Nagle of this city. He was arrested at Sioux Falls, S. D., June 26, having escaped from Goshen, N. Y., August 22 of last year after he was reported to have killed two guards at a hospital. Quinn was being held at Goshen for the warden of the Rawlins, Wyo., state penitentiary, from which he had escaped, when the double murder was committed.

OLIVER HARDY'S
COMEDY NOT SO
FUNNY IN HOMEAt Least That's What
Mrs. Hardy Prepared
To Tell Court

Los Angeles, July 6—(AP)—Oliver Hardy, he of the comedy screen bangs, carried his slapstick comedy into the house—but in no slapstick comedy vein—his wife complained in a cross action in Superior Court to the actor's divorce suit.

In her complaint, filed yesterday, she said Oliver dropped no less than $30,000 in one day by wagering on the bangtails at Agua Caliente, border resort, and once appeared at his home with a friend, both with shotguns, to wait out the night as the aftermath of a slapping episode with his sister-in-law on the receiving end.

Mrs. Hardy wants a divorce and $1,400 monthly alimony, not counting $4,000 in attorneys fees. She provided a peek into the comedian's income by alleging that this earnings exceed $6,000 a month. She listed their community property at $100,000.

The sister-in-law who got slapped—Mrs. Hardy deposes—has filed a suit against Hardy for $50,000 to compensate for damages suffered.

The cross complaint mentions a blonde who seems to have been the subject of a little sleuthing by operatives for Mrs. Hardy to determine what part she played in the comic's life.

Hardy's teammate on the screen, Stan Laurel, also is in court, defendant in a divorce suit.

Mud-Jack At Work
At South Approach
Peoria Ave. Bridge

State Highway Department employees and equipment began work this morning filling in under the south approach to the Peoria avenue bridge where the driveway and sidewalks have settled several inches below the grade.

The bridge was constructed, sand was used as fill beneath the heavy cement slab and walks at both approaches and on the south side this has settled materially, causing quite a depression.

One crew started work this morning drilling holes in the cement slab of both the walk and the driveways. When this is completed, another force of workmen and equipment will start pumping mud in the holes, raising the low spots to grade. City street department employees are assisting in the work.

Washington, July 6—(AP)—A grant of $3,500,000 to Illinois was announced today by Harry L. Hopkins, Federal Relief Administrator.

Factor's Secretary Hints At
Payment Of Ransom Some Time
Soon; Possibly During Day

Chicago, July 6—(AP)—New hope that John Factor, kidnapped speculator may be released sometime soon, possibly today, came to his friends early this morning.

A cryptic statement from his secretary, Leon Beet, was responsible for the optimism, in that it led observers to believe that carefully guarded negotiations for the payment of ransom for Factor's release were under way today.

Beet had been missing from the Factor quarters in a downtown hotel during the night, but upon his return he was asked if any progress could be announced.

"Not now," he replied, "nothing now. But after the banks open there should be a different story to tell."

Previously some of Factor's friends had expressed fear for his safety. His son, Jerome, shared the apprehension, and said he thought a telephone message recently received demanding $75,000 was a fake.

Profiteering In Bread To Be Prosecuted By Federal Government Says CummingsAttorney General Is Watching Action
Of Big Bakers

Chicago, July 6—(AP)—The Chicago Bakers' Association called a meeting today presumably for the purpose of raising the price of bread after leaders said present prices could not be maintained after the Federal processing tax on wheat and flour becomes effective Saturday.

Meanwhile, it was reported, that the question would be whether to increase pound loaves one or two cents.

Washington, July 6—(AP)—Prosecution of persons profiteering in bread will be inaugurated by the Department of Justice as soon as conclusive evidence of the action is obtained.

Attorney General Cummings said today he was studying complaints laid before him by Secretary Wallace that plans had been made to unduly increase the price of bread in various sections of the country.

Bakers in some instances have said the proposed wheat processing tax was responsible for the contemplated increase.

Cummings said that after going over all of the data he would issue a public statement as to his attitude and that it would be followed by action against profiteers, if any were found.

Must Justify Boosts

He declined to indicate just what the action would be but said it would be determined and designed to break up any practice of increasing prices more than were justified by the tax.

Wallace has referred to Cummings for "such action as may be necessary" complaints of unjustified price hikes. He warned again that there still are anti-trust laws and that the wheat processing tax which will go into effect at midnight Saturday should not increase the cost of a one pound loaf of bread more than 1.3 cents.

PAPER BECAME HEARTS OF ALL
COMMUNITIES

During Troublesome
Days Of Banking
Moratorium

Chicago, July 6—(AP)—The development of the business of news reporting into the highly efficient and speedy process it is today was traced by L. A. Brophy, news editor, central division, Associated Press, in an address before teachers of journalism.

Mr. Brophy went back to the early days of the telegraph and showed how it and the telephone, of which The Associated Press controls 250,000 miles of wires, make possible the flashing of news events around the world a few minutes after they occur.

The worth of the speed in the handling of news by The Associated Press was strikingly illustrated, he said, during the recent banking crisis.

"During those troublesome days," he said, "the national government at Washington daily, sometimes hourly, issued fiscal regulations affecting every banking institution, and thus affecting every community. There was no time for the bank or to obtain copies of these regulations by mail, and, seldom, not enough time by telegraph. Over the wires of The Associated Press, all these regulations were carried verbatim, and they reached newspapers in every corner of the United States."

The result he said was that the newspaper office became the heart of the community to which went the town's bankers, civic leaders and others entrusted with governing the community.

Requirements Under
New Law

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of two articles showing how municipalities should go about getting federal aid for public works projects. The first which appeared yesterday in The Telegraph told how applications for loans should be delayed until a State Administrator had been appointed and gave the primary qualifications for the eligibility of projects.)

Washington, July 6—(AP)—The Federal Public Works Administration warns Illinois cities and towns that it will turn thumbs down on any makeshift municipal project.

"The project should be socially desirable in the sense of contributing something of value to the equipment of the community and should not be a mere makeshift to supply work" the administration says.

No work should be constructed which would require for its operation or maintenance an additional outlay by the federal government."

On priority of projects, the administration says:

Priority of Projects

"Projects which can be entered upon at once and completed with reasonable speed should be preferred to projects which would be spread over a relatively long period. Projects which are located in or near a center of unemployment should be preferred so far as practicable. Projects which are integrated with other projects into a significant plan should be preferred to projects which are isolated and unrelated."

On labor policy, the administration points out:

"Opportunities for employment on projects authorized under this administration shall be equitably distributed among qualified workers who are unemployed—not among those who wish to change one good job for another," instructions said.

"These work opportunities shall be distributed geographically as widely and equitably as may be practicable."

"Qualified workers who, under the law, are entitled to preference shall secure such treatment."

Should Avoid Waste

"The wasteful costs and personal disappointments due to excessive migration of labor in quest of work to the vicinities of projects should be avoided."

"Local labor required for such projects and appropriately to be secured through employment service agencies designated by the United States Employment Service."

Application blanks for loans which may be obtained from the Federal Public Works Administration here and later from the state administration, cover four pages. In the information sought is:

Description of work proposed, including data on whether work has been started or plans prepared and if not, when they will be ready. Also an estimate of the duration of the project.

The estimated cost, subdivided into cost for labor, material, engineering overhead, and interest on the money during the period of construction and cost of land.

The financial status of the applicant included bonded indebtedness.

Winkler Objects
To Being Arrested

Springfield, Ill., July 6—(AP)—Gus Winkler, who has had prominent mention in connection with bank robberies and other gangster activities, complained to the Illinois Supreme Court today about his arrest in Chicago a few months ago.

The court was petitioned to set aside Winkler's Municipal Court conviction on a charge of carrying concealed weapons, which brought a sentence of one year to the House of Correction and a fine of $300.

Winkler's attorneys claimed his arrest was illegal. He had been wanted on a vagrancy warrant but was taken on the concealed weapon charge. William Drury, the policeman who made the arrest, also found $5,000 in the gangster's pockets.

Stolen Car Arrested
After Flight

Elgin, Ill., July 6—(AP)—Paul A. Bloedorn, 40, of Crystal Lake, was shot to death by Elgin police early today after a three mile chase through the city.

Bloedorn and his brother-in-law, Harvey Werbach of Elgin, had sped away when accosted by the officers who suspected their car was stolen.

The car, it developed, had been stolen from a motorist of Waterbury, Conn., visiting the World's Fair at Chicago, June 15.

Sergeant Frank Egner and Officer E. L. Ackman came upon Bloedorn and Werbach in the early morning and ordered them to halt. Instead, the pair fled, the squad car in pursuit. The police showered the car ahead with bullets, and at last the fugitives wrecked their car in a field just east of Elgin, jumped and ran.

Egner overtook Bloedorn, but was felled by a blow over the head. Then, as Bloedorn ran, the policeman shot twice. One bullet pierced Bloedorn's leg, the other entered his back. He died soon afterward in an Elgin hospital.

Werbach's home was surrounded and he was captured as he approached it at 8 A. M. He was locked up.

Sergeant Egner was taken to the hospital to be treated for a broken nose, cuts, and possible skull fracture.

Lad Of 13, Unable To Walk, Founder Junior
Publishers

Chicago, July 6—(AP)—An object lesson to boys—and yes—even adults is 13-year-old Philip Hartzell of Carthage, Ill.

For although he is a victim of muscular affliction that has made him a life-long invalid unable to walk or stand alone, he is the one-man staff and publisher of a monthly paper, "The World News."

In addition he is the founder and president of the International Junior Journalists' Association. Last night he sat at the head of a banquet table around which were gathered 20 other juvenile publishers, all members of the international organization.

Philip told of his paper. It is four years old and appears as a six-page edition. Its subscribers number 600 and some of them live in Australia. Besides news, a wide range of subjects is included between its covers—even a cooking department and a serious editorial section.

As an editor Philip's chief helper is his mother, Mrs. Franklin Hartzell. As he dictates she typewrites his copy.

But he does not devote all his time to being an editor. He also studies under a tutor and will be in the eighth grade next year.

Horner Stops Out
In Librarian's Pay

Springfield, Ill., July 6—(AP)—Governor Horner is on record for economy, but insists that it should not be carried to extremes.

For that reason, he filed a veto message today on the Burns bill to cut ten per cent from the $3,600 yearly salary of the State Historical Librarian, which the Governor described as being no more than adequate.

More than 250 bills were before Horner today, requiring his approval or veto before next Thursday.

A group of measures were signed late yesterday, including the University of Illinois appropriation, part of the Hunter road commission program and the bill for creation of a state horse racing commission.

Water pipes recently found in England are said to be over 500 years old.

National League—Martin, St. Louis; Hafez, Cincinnati; Berger, Boston; J. Wilson, St. Louis; Cucinello, Brooklyn; English, Chicago; Waner, Chicago; Hubbell, New York; Schumacher, New York.

Three National League moundsmen saw action, Bill Hallahan of St. Louis, the started, Wanerke and Carl Hubbell, who yielded nine hits. Gomez, Crowder and Grove pitched for the Americans, surrendering eight blows.

Connie Mack, shrewd 71-year-old manager for the American League forces, surprised the throng by sending Lefty Gomez, star southpaw of the world's championship Yankees to the mound, while John McGraw, back in the all-star game for a day, countered with "Wild Bill" Hallahan, ace left hander of the St. Louis Cardinals. Jimmie Wilson of the Cardinals caught Hallahan while Bill Dickey, long distance clutter, completed a Yankee battery by receiving for the American League.

The National League stars strode to bat first as the visiting team, after a long council on ground rules was held on the plate among the managers and four umpires two representing each league.

It was an ideal day for the game as a warm sun beamed from a cloudless sky.

Babe Struck Out

The Nationals went down in order in their half of the first, only three men coming to bat. Gehrig, for the Americans, was the first man to reach base, walking after a 3 a.d. two count. Babe Ruth brought the crowd to its feet as he struck out after three straight balls. The last strike was called Gehrig, after stealing second when Gehrig was out, Terry to Hallahan.

A double play, Dykes to Gehrig, on Berger's drive stopped the Nats in the second inning after Hafez and Terry had singled. The Americans scored in the same inning when Gomez singled to left center after Dykes and Cronin had walked, the former coming home for the first run of the game. McGraw had two hurlers warming up as the inning ended.

Ruth Got Homer

Again in the third inning the National crew went down in order, not a man reaching first. Then came the American League fireworks. With Gehrig on base by virtue of a walk Babe Ruth loomed in the lower right field seats, and cantered around the bases with a wide grin on his face. Hallahan was still wild, and retired to the showers after walking Gehrig, Lon Wanerke, pride of the Cubs, took the mound. A double play cut down the American Leaguers after this outburst.

Alvin Crowder, Washington star, went to the mound for the American Leaguers at the start of the fourth inning, and with airtight support cut down the National League team 1-2-3. Wanerke also fared as well against the Americans in the last half of the fourth, only a trio of batsmen facing him.

The first error of the game was charged against Lou Gehrig in the first of the fifth when he dropped Bartell's bish foul. The latter was the only National to get on base during the inning. In the American League team at the start of the seventh and Terry greeted the "fireball" artist with a single, only to be forced at second by Berger. Pie Traynor batted for Bartell and doubled to center. Hartnett, who went in at backstop for the Nationals during the sixth, a notorious victim of Grove's slants during the 1929 world series, struck out. Woody English batted for Wanerke and flied to end the inning. McGraw sent Hubbell into the box and Gehrig walked. He was out on Simmons' when Dykes singled. The inning ended as Frisch threw a Rick Ferrell.

Neither team scored in the eighth inning. Frisch, batting right handed, got one hit of the inning when a grounder took a freak hop as a warning for a single.

The Nationals went down 1-2-3 in the ninth to end the game and give the American League crew a 4 to 2 victory.
